The 1980 Pommard 1er Cru Les Pézerolles is showing beautifully, wafting from the glass with complex aromas of plums, coniferous forest floor, mandarin rind and smoke. Medium to full-bodied, ample and melting, with a fleshy core of sweet fruit, fine tannins and a sapid finish, it's a charming, generously but judiciously chaptalized red Burgundy that's drinking very well age 40.

The 1980 Pommard 1er Cru Les Rugiens is showing well, offering up aromas of plummy fruit, dark berries, loamy soil, peonies and marmalade. Medium to full-bodied, ample and giving, it's round and open, with melting tannins that assert themselves with vestigial grip on the sapid finish.
